What the Business Men Have to Say on the Subject.

SPLITTING UP THE BLOCKS.

J. E. Dooly Strikes the Nail on the Head by Saying That is a Question That Concerns the Owners.

The most important question of public improvements that concerns the people of this city at the present time is the pavement of Main street. To get at the opinion of the business men, a Herald reporter called on a number of merchants, bankers, capitalists, real estate dealers and others. A speculative question, and one upon which there are a great many adverse views, is that of the practicability of the I will pay the above reward for informa-tion which will lead to the apprehension of the parties who brutally assaulted James E. C. E. Wantland-I think that if the city council and the people individually would devote the same energy to paving Main street that they do to the split-block scheme we would get along much better. Dividing the blocks will be a hard thing to accomplish, and we will have to get at it gradually. Unless Main street is pared this fail we will be stuck in the mud this winter as we were last winter, and it will hart.

The macadam which was put down last spring don't seem to be of much account. The cheapest material that presents itself is the vitrified brick, but it does not seem to have been sufficiently tested. I believe to a certain extent it may be well enough to divide the blocks where they are not built upon. But where there are improvements the owners must get together and buy the property. The blocks are too large and will always be a fire trap and a nuisance.

B. H. Schettler, of Zion's Savings bankviews, is that of the practicability of the city dividing up the blocks in the old part when they did this job of putting in a lot of the city by laying out new streets. The interview with J. E. Dooly seems to strike more good than the natural soil on the fifth interview with J. E. Dooly seems to strike the nail on the head clearly and with good effect in reason. Expense of Paving Main Street. City Engineer Doremus gave it as his opinion that while he looked for good results in vitrified brick pavements he considered Utah granite the best paving for Main street. He estimated that it would cost to grade, pave, curb, gutter and build conduits for irrigation $16 per foot front or $800 per fifty foot let. This is without making any reduction for the street rail-ways. If the street railway is compelled to pave between the rails and tracks $ its will reduce the amount to about $13.40 per foot front.

MR. CHASE'S OPINION.

MR. F. N. Chase, director of the lowe state board of agriculture, says: "While cout at the state fair grounds on the 6th inst., Mr. Rounds, of Ceder Falls, was taken with a sudden and very violent and the city hall, as it was torn up last year and we had nothing but mud to swim in all last winter; had seas of mud. They tore off all the gravet, leaving nothing but nutural soil. All we have to get is a rain to make it knee deep. I think the blocks ought to be divided, i. e., one way—running north and south. seen of the effects of this medicine, I regard it as being one of great merit, and an lowa product which people have great need of during the summer months."
